

Keleya

English translation by Chisom R. Chukwumerije

Traditional Igbo Song

Igbo: Ke - le - ya, ke - le - ya, na ọ bu E - ze, English: Give him thanks, He is King,
 ke - le - ya, ke - le - ya, na ọ bu E - ze.
 give him thanks, He is King.
 Ke - le, Ji - zọs, na ọ bu E - ze,
 Thank you, Je - sus, you are King,
 Ji - zọs, I di nma.
 Je - sus, you are good.

Igbo:

Keleya, keleya, na ọ bu Eze,
 keleya, keleya, na ọ bu Eze.
 kele, Jizọs, na ọ bu Eze,
 Jizọs, I di nma.

English:

Give him thanks, He is King,
 give him thanks, He is King.
 Thank you, Jesus, you are King,
 Jesus, you are good.

Notes:

The call and response pattern shown in this piece is common throughout West African singing. This allows for spontaneous improvisation and building communal connection.

When offering this piece in worship, leaders may introduce variations in melody, text, or rhythm while maintaining the core spiritual identity. Communal responses typically remain more consistent, providing a stable foundation for the leader's creative expressions.

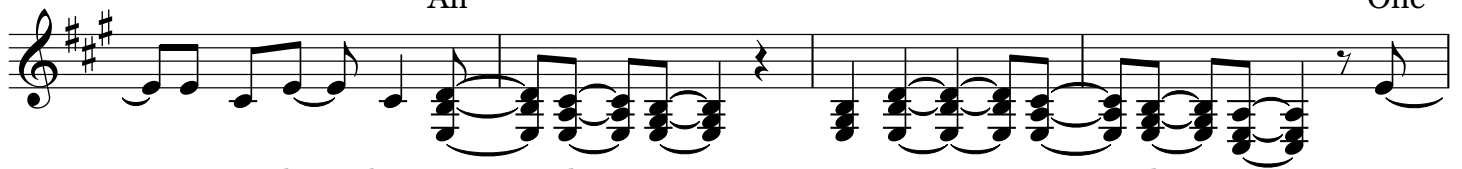

The examples on the next page illustrate several traditional improvisational approaches that honor the authentic worship practice of this song. Feel free to develop your own variations that respect the cultural and spiritual context while allowing for personal expression.
